

British Fascism and How to Fight It

Cable Street, 1936. No platform for fascists - then and now!

In August this year, anti-fascists failed to stop the BNP's Red, White & Blue Festival going ahead in Derbyshire. In September, anti-fascists in Cologne successfully blockaded the centre of town and stopped the far right from across Europe gathering at a planned conference. This meeting will include eyewitness reports and discuss the lessons of those events and how to classify and fight the BNP

1 pm, Sunday 9 November 2008

Bloomsbury Suite, ULU, Malet St, London WC1E 7HY

www.bolshevik.org | britain@bolshevik.org